Who we are...

Founded in 1947, NASASP is comprised of 56 member agencies representing each state and US territory. Members work together to promote effective use of federal surplus personal property (not real estate) through increased education and communication.

Appropriately, the associations' Latin motto, "Pro bono publico" translates to "For the Public Good." By extending the useful life of thousands of pieces of equipment, the program saves billions of tax dollars in your community.

NASASP has introduced and supports federal legislation that increases the availability of federal surplus personal property .

How you can help...

Individuals and groups may join NASASP as an Associate Member. For a small annual fee, Associate Members receive direct communication on events and issues that affect the program and their community.

As a not-for-profit 501 (c)(6) organization, your membership fee allows us to continue to educate and promote the surplus program. Please, sign up today on -line at www.nasasp.org.

What is the Federal Surplus Personal Property Program?

Personal property no longer needed by the Federal government is available for donation to eligible organizations through the Federal Surplus Property Program.

All items are made available to your organization through the State Agency for Surplus Property (SASP) in your home state. Participants are assessed a service charge that covers the SASP's administrative costs.

The SASP is responsible for the fair and equitable distribution of all surplus property allocated to the state and to ensure compliance of all conditions and restrictions surrounding the property.
